MARKETS IN INDIA

The first day of the Diwali celebration is called Dhanteras. On this day, families prepare for the days ahead. Diwali is a festival of lights and every Indian celebrates it with joy. During this festival, people light up their houses and shops. They work together to clean and renovate their homes and businesses. This is also a big shopping day. You will find the markets in India packed with people buying new clothing, gold, and silver. They also need gifts, sweets, and firecrackers for the festivities to come.

The saree is a traditional dress for Indian women. The fabric is wrapped around the waist while the other end is draped over the shoulder.

Dhoti is the traditional dress for Indian men. The famous Mahatma Gandhi always wore a dhoti on all public occasions, making this attire popular beyond the Indian borders.
